Dr. Zelma Lloyd Frank

Education

Inducted October 10, 2003

Zelma Lloyd Frank graduated from Lincoln University with B.S degree in Elementary Education. She completed an M.A. degree in Elementary Education from Lincoln University, an M.S. Degree in Reading and Early Childhood Education from the City University of New York, and a Doctor of Education degree in Curriculum and Instruction from the University of Missouri. Dr. Frank is married to James Frank.

She has spent her professional career preparing soldiers young scholars for careers in Education. As an elementary school teacher, she required the experience and insights that she would later use as a Professor of teacher Education. Dr. Frank has taught in teacher education program at Hunter College of the City University of New York, and Lincoln University. She has supervised student teachers from New York University and has served as an Education Consultant for the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education.

Dr. Frank has been active in each community she has been a part of as a speaker and workshop presenter, sharing her expertise in teaching strategies and as a reading specialist. She has demonstrated her commitment to literacy as a Field Reader for Upward Bound Program Proposals for the United States Department of Education, as a trainer for Workshops Sponsored by the Association on Higher Education and Disability, and as Seminar leader for Trio Personnel. She is a member of New Orleans Louisiana Commission on Human Relations and the New Orleans East Community Betterment Association. She has been listed in Who's Who in Higher Education. She is a recipient of the Lincoln University Alumni Association President's Lifetime Achievement Award. Dr. Frank holds life memberships in the NAACP and Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated.